

BLACK HISTORY MONTH at PRINCETON

Thursday, February 7th

Throwback Thursday

9:00pm, Frist East TV Lounge

Join the Black History Month Committee each Thursday of February to watch episodes of The Cosby Show and A Different World. Food will be provided and we will end each night watching the latest episode of Scandal!

Presented by the Black History Month Committee and Frist Campus Center

Aida

8:00pm-10pm, Thursday through Saturday, 2pm showing on Saturday

Allow yourself to be transported back to Ancient Egypt to witness the timeless love story of an Egyptian prince and a Nubian princess—two lovers whose origins were “supposed to predetermine their hate for one another but...”

A senior thesis performance by Kemi Adegoroye '13, directed by Reen Glaser '14 and Kemi Adegoroye '13.

Presented by BAC Drama, Comparative Literature Department, the Gender and Sexuality Studies Department, the Music Theatre Lab, and the Carl A. Fields Center.

Saturday, February 9th

The Redefining Freedom Black History

Month Gala: A Celebration

Commemorating the 150th Anniversary of the Signing of the Emancipation Proclamation

7:00-9:00 p.m., The Andlinger Center
Chancellor Green Rotunda, Princeton University

(This is a ticketed event.)

Presented by the Black History Month

Committee, the Carl Fields Center, the Association of Black Seminarians at Princeton Seminary, the Center of African American Studies, the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University, the Program in American Studies, The Office of Academic Affairs and Diversity the Princeton Public Library, the YWCA of Princeton, and the Paul Robeson Center

Tuesday, February 12th

The James Baldwin Lecture: Art, Music and Politics in the Book of Revelation

7:00pm McCormick Hall, Room 101

A lecture and book signing by Elain Pagels, Harrington Spear Paine Foundation Professor of Religion at Princeton University. The annual James Baldwin Lecture celebrates the scholarship of a distinguished Princeton faculty member and provides an occasion for the intellectual community to reflect on the issue of race and American culture.

Presented by the Center for African American Studies

Wednesday, February 13th

Diversifying the STEM Field: Increasing Minority Representation in Science, Tech, Engineering, and Math

4:30-5:00 p.m., The Carl Fields Center, Princeton University

Presented by the Black History Month Committee, Students for Education Reform and Teach for America.

A Talk with Tiona McClodden

4:30 p.m.- 6:00 p.m. McCormick Hall, Room 106

Tiona McClodden is an LGBT-identified filmmaker whose films have chronicled the experiences of the black LGBT community. Her most recent film, Bumming Cigarettes, is her first feature (her other films are documentaries) and has been much celebrated.

Presented by the Program in Gender and Sexuality Studies

Friday, February 15th

Black Angels over Tuskegee

February 15 7:00pm, Trenton War Memorial

(RSVP required to ayamusah@princeton.edu by February 10)

An evening trip to see Black Angels over Tuskegee, a new off Broadway performance celebrating the Tuskegee Airmen.

Presented by the Office of Academic Affairs and Diversity and the Graduate School

Saturday, February 16th

Mass Incarceration Documentary Series and Discussion

The Carl A. Fields Center, Princeton University

9:15 - 11:15 a.m.: House I Live In 12:30 - 2:30 p.m.: Long Distance

Revolutionary

2:45 - 4:00 p.m.: Panel Discussion

Presented by the Black History Month Committee, the Carl Fields Center, The Association of Black Seminarians and Women's Center at Princeton Seminary, the New Jim Crow Project of Princeton, the Students for Prison Education and Reform (SPEAR) at Princeton University, the Princeton Public Library, and the Paul Robeson Center

Monday, February 18th

Craig Stevens Wilder, "The Very Name of a West Indian": Atlantic Slavery and the Transformation of the College of New Jersey

4:30 -6:00pm, 211 Dickinson Hall

Presented by the Department of History and

*The Office of Academic Affairs and Diversity
at the Graduate School*

"Black and Jewish Dialogue"

7:00 p.m., The Center of Jewish Life, Princeton University

A dinner of conversation about the Black and Jewish communities at Princeton and in the broader community.

*Presented by the Black History Month
Committee, Carl A. Fields Center and the Center for Jewish Life*

Wednesday, February 20th

The Dilemma of Race: Examining the Structure of Racialization

9:00 a.m.-12:00 p.m., Room 105, The Carl Fields Center, Princeton University

A copy righted workshop presented by Joyce Johnson Shabazz.

Presented by the Carl A. Fields Center and the Black History Month Committee

Social Entrepreneurship

Workshop with Omar Wasow, founder of Black Planet and also co-founder of Charter School in Brooklyn, NY

7:30-8:30 p.m., Career Services

Workshop Room, Princeton University

Omar Wasow, founder of Black Planet and cofounder of a high performing charter school in Brooklyn, NY, will speak about entrepreneurship and his own experiences pursuing social entrepreneurship.

*Presented by the Black History Month
Committee and Career Services*

Thursday, February 21st

A Conversation with the Crunk Feminist Collective

4:30 p.m.- 6:00 p.m. Frist Campus Center, Multipurpose Room C

Taking tumblr, twitter, and RSS feeds by storm, this "Women-and-Men-of-Color

Scholar Activist Group gets Crunk, feminist style." Join them in a digital conversation, as they bring their well-honed critical eye to what is happening today.

Sponsored by the Black History Month Committee, Carl A. Fields Center, Center for African American Studies, LGBT Center, Program in Gender and Sexuality Studies, and Women's Center

Friday, February 22nd

Taste of Carnival

8:00 p.m.-2:00 a.m., The Carl Fields Center, Princeton University

Celebrate Caribbean culture with a night of food, musical and dance performances, a live Steel Pan Band, and fun!

Presented by Princeton Caribbean Connection

Monday, February 25th

Muslims and the Making of America: The African American Contribution Unveiled
7pm, The Carl A. Fields Center

A talk by Precious Rasheeda Muhammad, The Muslim History Detective, about the role that African American Muslims have played throughout American History.

Presented by the Carl A. Fields Center, the Black History Month Committee, the Office of Religious Life and the Muslim Students Association.

James C. Johnson and the Princeton Fugitive Slave Case

4:30pm, 211 Dickinson Hall

A lecture by Lolita Buckner Inniss '83
*Presented by the Department of History and
The Office of Academic Affairs and Diversity
at the Graduate School*

Tuesday, February 26th

Black History Month Closing Dinner: A Conversation with Maggie Anderson,

author of "Our Black Year"

5:30pm -7:00 pm, The Carl A. Fields Center

Presented by the Office of Academic Affairs and Diversity at the Graduate School

Thursday, February 28th

Conversation Series: Natasha Trethewey and Tracy K. Smith

4:30-6:00 p.m., The Andlinger Center
Chancellor Green Rotunda, Princeton
University

An open conversation between two leading poets in the U.S.

today. <http://www.princeton.edu/africanamericanstudies/events/>

Presented by the Center for African American Studies and the Lewis Center for the Arts.

From African Dance to Hip Hop: The Evolution of Dance throughout the African Diaspora

February 28 9:00pm- 11:00pm, The Carl
A. Fields Center

A night of dance, food and song to celebrate the end of Black History Month.

*Presented by the Black History Month
Committee*

Sunday, March 3rd

Women of Color Afternoon Tea

March 3 5:00pm- 6:30pm, The Carl A.
Fields Center

An afternoon of tea and conversation to celebrate the end Black History Month and the beginning of Women's History Month.

Presented by the Office of Academic Affairs and Diversity at the Graduate College, the Black History Month Committee, the Graduate Women of Color Caucus and Princeton Association of Black Women